ORDER

On November 26, 2012, Grayson Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation (“Grayson”) filed a motion requesting an extension of time within which to serve Requests for Information upon Kentucky Power Company (“Kentucky Power”). In support of its motion, Grayson states that it was not served, through its counsel, with the November 8, 2012 Order which set a procedural schedule indicating the dates by which various items were to be filed. Grayson further argues that it will be denied procedural due process and denied its substantive rights unless its legal counsel, who it states has entered an appearance in this case from the very beginning, is sent notices of the Commission’s orders.

On November 28, 2012, Kentucky Power filed its response to Grayson’s motion. In its response, Kentucky Power states that it disagrees that Grayson will be deprived of procedural due process and substantive rights if the extension is not granted. It argues that Grayson offers no explanation for why it did not forward the November 8, 2012 Order to its counsel. Kentucky Power further stated that it does not object to Grayson’s extension request provided that all subsequent deadlines in the Commission's November 8, 2012 Order are adjusted to account for the additional time provided to Grayson.

Based on Grayson's motion, and Kentucky Power's response thereto, the evidence of record, and being otherwise sufficiently advised, the Commission finds that:

1. Grayson's motion should be granted and it should have up to and including December 12, 2012 to serve its initial Requests for Information on Kentucky Power.

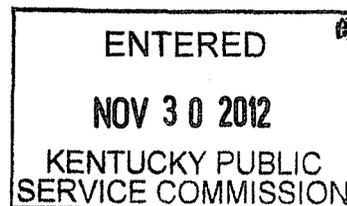

2. The amended procedural schedule attached hereto as an Appendix should be followed.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that:

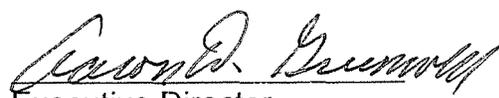

1. Grayson's motion requesting an extension of time to serve Requests for Information upon Kentucky Power is granted. Grayson shall have up to and including December 12, 2012 to serve its initial Requests for Information on Kentucky Power.

2. The amended procedural schedule set forth in the Appendix to this Order shall be followed in this proceeding.
